MR. CLARK'S HARD LABORS

That Old Story of Finding Money Due the City From the County and the Contract Made With Charles Berg and Doctor Marshall Is Baked Out of Its Resting Place and Put In a Petition—The Ex-Solicitor Enumerates the Cases Which He Prepared and Conducted and For Which He Received No Money.

LISBON, Feb. 9.—[Special]—The city of East Liverpool and its finance committee, composed of Charles Berg, R. J. Marshall, E. J. Owen, John Horwell, William Kent and William Swindells, were sued in court this morning by John Sant, of Louisville, Ky., who asks to recover judgment for $426.08 from the 18th of December, '94. Sant and the defendant entered into an agreement by which Sant was to perform such expert accountant's work as should lead to the recovery of the sum of $4,260.85.

Sant was to receive 10 per cent of the amount recovered, and on March 2, he claims, he succeeded in recovering the full amount. The contract, he says, was agreed to by each of the defendants, but was signed only by Berg and Marshall.

A. H. Clark, ex-city solicitor of East Liverpool, sued to recover judgment against the city for $1,035.50, with interest from Nov. 23 of last year. The amount is due for professional services in the following cases: The city against Delia Morris to collect assessment for street improvements; Harriet Woodburn against the city, $5,000 damages; J. F. Billingsley, $2,000 damages; J. F. Hickman, two cases, $15,000 damages; Martin Leatherow, $5,000 damages; the state against Officer Jennings, two cases, assault and battery; state against Officer Earl, breaking into a saloon; Timothy Burns against Officer Earl, $500 damages; the city against John McFadden, violation saloon ordinance; the city against Elwood Pusey, to collect wharfage; Eleanor Curran, $10,000 damages; Delia Morris $800 damages; services in appropriation case probate court for extending Pleasant street; J. D. West in circuit court; preparing case of West against city in error, to supreme court; salary for six months and livery hire. In each case he has defended the interest of the city and wants judgment for the amount asked which the city has refused to pay.

LISBON NEWS.

What Is Going on at the Seat of Justice.

LISBON, Feb. 9.—[Special]—Daniel and Henry Mellinger, Josiah Rohrbaugh, William and John Nold, and J. H. Yoder, of this county, are defendants in an action filed in Mahoning county by the assignee of J. Rohrbaugh.

James Pinkerton, of East Liverpool, is one of the defendants in an action filed yesterday in Washington county by J. H. Riley. The suit is to sell real estate.

As a penalty for failing to file an account within the legal time Judge Young has refused to allow George B. Sinclair, of Wellsville, compensation for his administration of the estate of the late John A. McDonald. It amounts to $50, while $51.50 was claimed for extra work.

J. T. Jackson, of Salineville, pleaded guilty to burglary committed at Hanoverton, and was sent to the Mansfield reformatory.

Judge Young vacated probate court today, and Judge J. C. Boone is now the probate judge.

A LARGE OPENING

On the Lisbon Road Should Be Repaired at Once.

When the new culvert on the Lisbon road was built an opening was left on the street large enough for a good sized boy to go through. This morning as Councilman Peake passed the place a youngster started to slide into the opening, and had it not been for the quick work of Mr. Peake in grasping him by the collar the lad would have undoubtedly been seriously injured. Now the councilman thinks the commissioner should put a grating over the opening before a serious accident occurs, and the city is compelled to defend itself in a damage suit.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT

Shows Some of the Funds Nearly Empty.

The report of City Treasurer Herbert, to be read at the meeting of council this evening, and the different funds will show the following balances: General, $576.26; street, $972.47; wharf, $45.06; fire, $7.59; police, $851.29; light, $981.59; sinking, $8,341.16; interest, $2,385.04; sanitary, $731.70; bridge, $4,172.46; street repair, $1,313.71.

A LINCOLN BANQUET.

The Sons of Veterans Will Remember the Great Statesman.

The Sons of Veterans will on Friday evening observe Union Defenders' day in a fitting manner, and entertain the Grand Army. A program relating to incidents in the life of Lincoln is sent out by the chaplain in chief, and is observed by every camp in the United States. After the program is rendered a banquet will be served.

HUNTING A LINE.

The Flood in Beaver Creek Carried It Away.

Drilling at the Williams well on the Lones farm has been suspended temporarily, and the workmen are now searching for lost gas pipe. The line was stretched across the creek, and when the ice in the stream broke it carried the pipe with it. The damage will be repaired in a few days.

SHOT DEAD.

A Cleveland Man Killed by His Wife This Morning.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9.—[Special]—George Davies, one of the most prominent commission merchants of this place, was shot dead by his wife this morning. The cause is not yet known to the police.

Among the Sick

May, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McNicol is seriously ill with an attack of catarrhal fever. Mrs. McNicol is also suffering with a severely sprained arm, caused by falling yesterday morning.

Ben Davidson is recovering after a serious attack of pneumonia.

George Anderson, of East End, is confined to his home by illness.

W. A. Hill is very much improved, and his ultimate recovery is assured.

John Gill, of Sixth street, is able to be out after suffering with rheumatism.

George McNicol is again able to be out after a threatened attack of fever.

Will Louthan, the 15-year-old son of B. M. Louthan, of Walnut street, is dangerously ill with typhoid fever. Physicians met in consultation last evening.

She Threw an Iron.

A well known clerk last evening called on his best girl, who lives in McKinnon addition. During the evening the lovers engaged in a quarrel and the young lady threw a flat iron at him, which he dodged, and it went through the window. Today the young man was hunting a workman to replace the glass.

A Change In Date.

The date of holding the charity concert has been changed to March 2. Professor Harper urges the members of the participating choirs to assemble at his studio Monday evening for practice. All other vocalists are also invited to be present and join the chorus.

Withdrew the Charge.

The charge preferred against John Bucheit by Truant Officer Beardmore, was withdrawn. Bucheit explained that, although his son was absent from the public school, his education was not being neglected. The lad attends business college.

A Judgment For Interest.

The case of H. E. Bachmann & Co., of Wheeling, against E. H. Laughlin for $19.68 was tried yesterday afternoon. The original bill had been paid, and judgment was given for the interest which amounted to 17 cents.

A Light Plant.

The Thompson pottery is to be lighted with electricity generated by a plant to be placed in the works. The contract for building the plant was let yesterday afternoon. There were six bidders.

Little to Do.

The city is free from contagion, and Officer Burgess has but little to do. He says there is not even so much as a dead cat or dog to bury.

MUST GO TO COUNCIL

Claims Committee Turn Down
a Printing Bill.

BELONGS TO BOARD OF HEALTH

Suggested That the Members Pay It—The Pay Roll Is Not Large This Month. Funds In the Treasury—Council This Evening.

Claims committee met last evening with Members Stewart and Kent present.

Everything went smoothly until the board of health bills were reached when Mr. Stewart explained. "Here is that Crisis bill for $57.90," and Mr. Kent said: "That bill should be referred to council as there seems to be some misunderstanding among the members. These fellows should pay that bill individually." Mayor Gilbert here took a hand and remarked: "Council is the place it should go. President Purinton should pay it; he is interested. I will not pay a cent of it." "He will pay his share," retorted Mr. Kent, and Mayor Gilbert replied: "Well, if council doesn't pay the bill they needn't worry about the members of the board paying it," and Mr. Kent remarked: "If that bill is paid the News Review will have to be paid also," and the subject was dropped by referring the bill to council.

A communication from George Wucherer in which he said he had been compelled to pay $18.64 too much on the Walnut street sewer, and a bill from J. M. McDole for $14.49 interest on the purchase price of the fire department lot were referred to council. The following bills were then ordered paid: Aaron McDonald, $9.75; city commissioner, salary and pay roll, $97.75; salary of policemen, $196; Chief Johnson, salary and feeding prisoners, $59.13; S. E. Wanamaker, $4; W. H. Frazier $17.43; G. F. Adam, $3.80; J. M. McDole, $4.84; J. Azdell, $10; payroll of fire department, $413; William Robinson, $1.25; insurance on fire department, $100; John A. George, $108.10; Ohio Valley Gas company, $35.60; W. H. Adams, 23 cents; Isaac Shamp, $8.13; Robert Hall, $59.79; Crosser-Ogilvie company, $6.25; Ceramic City Light company, $522; The Ruggles-Gale company, $3.

NO CHANGE

Will Be Made In the Location of the Locust Alley Light.

Last evening at the meeting of claims committee the subject of changing the location of the Locust alley light was brought up, and Mr. Kent explained that Engineer George and himself had looked over the ground Saturday evening and it was not as dark on Second street as the residents had represented. Mr. Stewart remarked that he did not think the town was going into a business of lighting up alleys, and Mr. Kent defended his position by stating that Locust alley was used as much as a Locust street. This probably means there will be no change in the location of the light, as council will act upon the report of Messrs. Kent and George.

COUNCIL'S WORK.

Important Matters to Be Considered Tonight.

The meeting of city council this evening will in all probability be a long session, but the unexpected may happen and the session be as short as was the last meeting.

The street railway ordinance will be up again, but no attempt will be made to pass it, and it will probably go over to its third reading. There is a remote possibility that an attempt will be made to have a reconsideration. The curfew ordinance will be up for its second reading, and the appointment of William Moore to the police force will be confirmed. No provision will be submitted from the Pennsylvania company. Other business of a general nature will be transacted.

BROKE LOOSE.

But Was Soon Captured and Securely Fastened.

The heavy ice forced a barge loose from its fastenings on the shore near the power house yesterday, and it drifted down the river. Five men put out after the barge in a skiff. They caught it near the bridge piers, and succeeded in towing it to the shore at a point above Pilgrim's floats.

DIED YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Rebecca Schiffbauer Passes Peacefully Away.

Mrs. Rebecca Schiffbauer died yesterday afternoon at her home on College street, from an attack of heart trouble and pneumonia, aged 34 years. Deceased has been ill for over a year, but not until two weeks ago was she compelled to take to her bed. Her husband, Henry Schiffbauer, died a few months ago while undergoing an operation in the West Penn hospital. Three small children are left to mourn her loss, the youngest being but 13 months old. The remains will be taken from the late residence tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 to the Lutheran church, from which place the funeral will take place at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Reinartz officiating. Interment will be made in Riverview.

EVANGELIST NAYLOR COMING.

Arrangements Have Been Made by the Committee.

U. G. King and William Betteridge were in Wellsville last night interviewing Evangelist Naylor, and returned with the intelligence that he would hold meetings in the Methodist Protestant church, commencing Feb. 23. The gentleman is engaged in Wellsville until that time, but he will not prolong his stay. The boy preacher, Mr. Danivill, will conduct services here before that time. Reverend Naylor continues to stir the people of Wellsville, and it is expected he will be equally successful here.

CALLED HIM DOWN.

Officer Whan Would Not Allow Interference.

While Officers Whan and Bertele were escorting the victims of the Sunday night raid to the lock-up, one of the prisoners was roughly jostled and shoved into the street by a man the party met. Officer Whan halted the fellow, and demanded an explanation of his insolent conduct. The latter was badly scared and said the lady who accompanied him was pushed roughly by the man he shoved. The officer lectured the fellow and told him to exercise more care in the future or he might come to grief.

THE RIVER IS FALLING.

Packets Have Resumed Their Trips Under Difficulties.

The river fell two feet during the night. The ice is thinning out considerably, but more is expected when the Allegheny opens completely. The Keystone arrived here from Pittsburgh about 11 o'clock last night, took on a few passengers and departed for Wheeling. Owing to the difficulty in effecting landings, East Liverpool was the only stop between Pittsburgh and Wheeling. The Kanawha is due down this evening. Until the river is free from ice few packets will come up.

SELECTING A SITE.

Christian Church Has an Option on a Lot.

The soliciting committee of the Christian church held a business meeting last evening. An option has been secured on a site for a new church, but its location will not be made public for the present. The ground is located in a part of the city where it can be easily reached by the members. It is believed this is where the new church will be erected. The committees continue to meet with encouragement, and the subscription lists are constantly growing.

THE ANNUAL SLIP

On the Campground Road Will Receive Attention.

Commissioner Finley and his force yesterday made a cinder walk on Chestnut street. Today the force are cleaning gutters in California hollow, and a slip on the lower side of the campground road near the Golden property is being investigated. The slip at this point takes place every year, and it has been the duty of the street commissioner for years past to fill it up during the summer months. An effort will be made to permanently repair the place.

A MUD BATH

Taken Last Evening by Two Intoxicated People.

Last night at a late hour two women, very much under the influence of liquor, fell into a mud hole on Eighth street, just beyond the Horn switch. One fellow was able to extricate himself, but was unable to help the other man out of his difficulty. He floundered about in the mud until a pedestrian came along and assisted him to his feet. Both were covered with mud from head to foot, and presented a sorry spectacle.

STILL A CHANCE

That Company E May Go to Washington.

Company E met last evening with a good attendance and drilled in the armory. The command was addressed by Captain Hill, who assured them there was still a remote possibility that they might get to take the trip to Washington. At the close of drill a new recruit was added to the membership of the company.

OPTION ON METSCHLAND

It Was Taken by a Well
Recommended Stranger.

WILL DECIDE WITHIN 30 DAYS

If the Property Is Purchased an Industry of Some Sort Will Soon Occupy It—Mr. Metsch Will Not Confirm the Report, but Others Do.

An option has been taken on the property owned by Christian Metsch on the river front, and, if the price is not too high, it will in the near future be owned by a company who propose to build and operate a factory.

So much and very little more is known of a deal made in the city yesterday afternoon. A stranger came with good recommendations from some town, the name of which is not given to the public, and had a long conference with Mr. Metsch. He represented a manufacturing concern, and wanted to buy the property. The business was given in detail to Mr. Metsch, and the conference ended by the stranger taking an option on the land. It will be in force 30 days. He left the city last evening.

Mr. Metsch was questioned about his visitor, but had nothing to say. He would not deny that negotiations were on for the sale of the property, neither would he confirm the story told him by the NEWS REVIEW. It is known, however, that the option was taken, and within 30 days East Liverpool will know whether it is to have another manufacturing concern. The few people acquainted with the facts will not give out any information tending to throw light on the matter.

MAY GET AN OFFICE.

Delegates to Zanesville Have the Rod Up.

There are some people in East Liverpool who would not be surprised if the lightning of popular approval would strike in the direction of a delegate from this place, and the meeting of Republican clubs at Zanesville would send him home clothed with the authority of vice president.

It has been known for some time that the McKinley club was anxious to have a representation among the state officers, and some quiet work was being done with this end in view. A leading member is responsible for the statement that the matter has gone far beyond that point, and he would be surprised if the office did not come this way. The McKinley club will send at least six delegates to the Zanesville convention, and it is possible that there will be more. Other young politicians in the state would like to be vice president, but it is believed the Liverpool man is not making the fight without some good assurance that he will be well supported. The delegates leave for Zanesville tomorrow, and will return on Saturday.

AN IMPUDENT TRAMP

Steals an Umbrella From a Grocery Store.

An impudent tramp walked into a Fourth street grocery yesterday afternoon, and roughly asked for something to eat. He was told to get out. Soon after the fellow left, the absence of an umbrella was noted. A customer in the store saw the tramp take the umbrella, but did not think he was stealing it. The authorities were informed of the theft, but the guilty party has not been apprehended.

Wants It Changed.

Gus Mantz called on Clerk Hanley yesterday in behalf of many Second street residents, and requested that the location of the light to be placed in Locust alley, midway between Second and Third streets, be changed, and placed at the intersection of Second street. Mantz interviewed almost every member of the light committee.

Like a Comanche.

Chief Johnson arrested Charles Crawford, an umbrella fixer, on Second street, last evening. The man was very drunk, and was yelling like a Comanche when taken in custody. He has not yet been arraigned.

An old man was given shelter in jail over night. He said he was a potter, and his home was in Baltimore.

West End Mud.

Residents of West End hail with delight even the smallest sign of cold weather, as they think they will not be compelled to use boots in order to reach their homes. The mud in their section of the city is very deep, and the person living in that vicinity who reaches Sixth street without being covered is a lucky man.

That Old Story of Finding Money Due the City From the County and the Contract Made With Charles Berg and Doctor Marshall Is Raked Out of Its Resting Place and Put In a Petition—The Expert Enumerates the Cases Which He Prepared and Conducted and For Which He Received No Money.

LISBON, Feb. 9.—[Special].—The city of East Liverpool and its finance committee, composed of Charles Berg, R. J. Marshall, E. J. Owen, John Horwell, William Kent and William Swindells, were sued in court this morning by John Sant, of Louisville, Ky., who asks to recover judgment for $426.08 from the 18th of December, '94. Sant and the defendant entered into an agreement by which Sant was to perform such expert accountant's work as should lead to the recovery of the sum of $4,260.85. Sant was to receive 10 per cent of the amount recovered, and on March 2, he claims, he succeeded in recovering the full amount. The contract, he says, was agreed to by each of the defendants, but was signed only by Berg and Marshall.

A. H. Clark, ex-city solicitor of East Liverpool, sued to recover judgment against the city for $1,035.50, with interest from Nov. 23 of last year. The amount is due for professional services in the following cases: The city against Delia Morris to collect assessment for street improvements; Harriet Woodburn against the city, $5,000 damages; J. W. A. Hill is very much improved, and his ultimate recovery is assured.

John Gill, of Sixth street, is able to be out after suffering with rheumatism.

George McNicol is again able to be out after a threatened attack of fever.

Will Louthan, the 15-year-old son of B. M. Louthan, of Walnut street, is dangerously ill with typhoid fever. Physicians met in consultation last evening.

She Threw an Iron.

A well known clerk last evening called on his best girl, who lives in McKinnon addition. During the evening the lovers engaged in a quarrel and the young lady threw a flat iron at him, which he dodged, and it went through the window. Today the young man was hunting a workman to replace the glass.

A Change In Date.

The date of holding the charity concert has been changed to March 2. Professor Harper urges the members of the participating choirs to assemble at his studio Monday evening for practice. All other vocalists are also invited to be present and join the chorus.

Withdrawed the Charge.

The charge preferred against John Bucheit by Truant Officer Beardmore, was withdrawn. Bucheit explained that, although his son was absent from the public school, his education was not being neglected. The lad attends business college.

A Judgment For Interest.

The case of H. E. Bachmann & Co., of Wheeling, against E. H. Laughlin for $19.68 was tried yesterday afternoon. The original bill had been paid, and judgment was given for the interest which amounted to 17 cents.

A Light Plant.

The Thompson pottery is to be lighted with electricity generated by a plant to be placed in the works. The contract for building the plant was let yesterday afternoon. There were six bidders.

Little To Do.

The city is free from contagion, and Officer Burgess has but little to do. He says there is not even so much as a dead cat or dog to bury.

MUST GO TO COUNCIL

Claims Committee Turn Down
a Printing Bill.

BELONGS TO BOARD OF HEALTH

Suggested That the Members Pay It—The Pay Roll Is Not Large This Month. Funds In the Treasury—Council This Evening.

Claims committee met last evening with Members Stewart and Kent present.

Everything went smoothly until the board of health bills were reached when Mr. Stewart explained. "Here is that Crisis bill for $57.90," and Mr. Kent said: "That bill should be referred to council as there seems to be some misunderstanding among the members. Those fellows should pay that bill individually." Mayor Gilbert here took a hand and remarked: "Council is the place it should go. President Parinton should pay it; he is interested. I will not pay a cent of it." "He will pay his share," retorted Mr. Kent, and Mayor Gilbert replied: "Well, if council doesn't pay the bill they needn't worry about the members of the board paying it," and Mr. Kent remarked: "If that bill is paid the News Review will have to be paid also," and the subject was dropped by referring the bill to council. A communication from George Wucherer in which he said he had been compelled to pay $18.64 too much on the Walnut street sewer, and a bill from J. M. McDole for $14.49 interest on the purchase price of the fire department lot were referred to council. The following bills were then ordered paid: Aaron McDonald, $9.75; city commissioner, salary and pay roll, $97.75; salary of policemen, $196; Chief Johnson, salary and feeding prisoners, $59.13; S. E. Wanamaker, $4; W. H. Frazier $17.43; G. F. Adam, $3.80; J. M. McDole, $4.84; J. Azdell, $10; payroll of fire department, $413; William Robinson, $1.25; insurance on fire department, $100; John A. George, $108.10; Ohio Valley Gas company, $35.60; W. H. Adams, 23 cents; Isaac Shamp, $8.13; Robert Hall, $9.79; Crosser-Ogilvie company, $6.25; Ceramic City Light company, $522; The Ruggles-Gale company, $3.

NO CHANGE

Will Be Made In the Location of the Locust Alley Light.

Last evening at the meeting of claims committee the subject of changing the location of the Locust alley light was brought up, and Mr. Kent explained that Engineer George and himself had looked over the ground Saturday evening and it was not as dark on Second street as the residents had represented. Mr. Stewart remarked that he did not think the town was going into a business of lighting up alleys, and Mr. Kent defended his position by stating that Locust alley was used as much as a street. This probably means there will be no change in the location of the light, as council will act upon the report of Messrs. Kent and George.

COUNCIL'S WORK.

Important Matters to Be Considered Tonight.

The meeting of city council this evening will in all probability be a long session, but the unexpected may happen and the session be as short as was the last meeting.

The street railway ordinance will be up again, but no attempt will be made to pass it, and it will probably go over to its third reading. There is a remote possibility that an attempt will be made to have a reconsideration. The curfew ordinance will be up for its second reading, and the appointment of William Moore to the police force will be confirmed. No proposition will be submitted from the Pennsylvania company. Other business of a general nature will be transacted.

BROKE LOOSE.

But Was Soon Captured and Securely Fastened.

The heavy ice forced a barge loose from its fastenings on the shore near the power house yesterday, and it drifted down the river. Five men put out after the barge in a skiff. They caught it near the bridge piers, and succeeded in towing it to the shore at a point above Pilgrim's floats.

DIED YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Rebecca Schiffbauer Passes Peacefully Away.

Mrs. Rebecca Schiffbauer died yesterday afternoon at her home on College street, from an attack of heart trouble and pneumonia, aged 34 years. Deceased has been ill for over a year, but not until two weeks ago was she compelled to take to her bed. Her husband, Henry Schiffbauer, died a few months ago while undergoing an operation in the West Penn hospital. Three small children are left to mourn her loss, the youngest being but 13 months old. The remains will be taken from the late residence tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 to the Lutheran church, from which place the funeral will take place at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Reinartz officiating. Interment will be made in Riverview.

EVANGELIST NAYLOR COMING.

Arrangements Have Been Made by the Committee.

U. G. King and William Betteridge were in Wellsville last night interviewing Evangelist Naylor, and returned with the intelligence that he would hold meetings in the Methodist Protestant church, commencing Feb. 22. The gentleman is engaged in Wellsville until that time, but he will not prolong his stay. The boy preacher, Mr. Dunvill, will conduct services here before that time. Reverend Naylor continues to stir the people of Wellsville, and it is expected he will be equally successful here.

CALLED HIM DOWN.

Officer Whan Would Not Allow Interference.

While Officers Whan and Bertele were escorting the victims of the Sunday night raid to the lock-up, one of the prisoners was roughly jostled and shoved into the street by a man the party met. Officer Whan halted the fellow, and demanded an explanation of his insolent conduct. The latter was badly scared and said the lady who accompanied him was pushed roughly by the man he shoved. The officer lectured the fellow and told him to exercise more care in the future or he might come to grief.

THE RIVER IS FALLING.

Packets Have Resumed Their Trips Under Difficulties.

The river fell two feet during the night. The ice is thinning out considerably, but more is expected when the Allegheny opens completely. The Keystone arrived here from Pittsburgh about 11 o'clock last night, took on a few passengers and departed for Wheeling. Owing to the difficulty in effecting landings, East Liverpool was the only stop between Pittsburgh and Wheeling. The Kanawha is due down this evening. Until the river is free from ice few packets will come up.

SELECTING A SITE.

Christian Church Has an Option on a Lot.

The soliciting committee of the Christian church held a business meeting last evening. An option has been secured on a site for a new church, but its location will not be made public for the present. The ground is located in a part of the city where it can be easily reached by the members. It is believed this is where the new church will be erected. The committees continue to meet with encouragement, and the subscription lists are constantly growing.

THE ANNUAL SLIP

On the Campground Road Will Receive Attention.

Commissioner Finley and his force yesterday made a cinder walk on Chestnut street. Today the force are cleaning gutters in California hollow, and a slip on the lower side of the campground road near the Golden property is being investigated. The slip at this point takes place every year, and it has been the duty of the street commissioner for years past to fill it up during the summer months. An effort will be made to permanently repair the place.

A MUD BATH

Taken Last Evening by Two Intoxicated People.

Last night at a late hour two men, very much under the influence of liquor, fell into a mud hole on Eighth street, just beyond the Horn switch. One fellow was able to extricate himself, but was unable to help the other man out of his difficulty. He floundered about in the mud until a pedestrian came along and assisted him to his feet. Both were covered with mud from head to foot, and presented a sorry spectacle.

STILL A CHANCE

That Company E May Go to Washington.

Company E met last evening with a good attendance and drilled in the armory. The command was addressed by Captain Hill, who assured them there was still a remote possibility that they might get to take the trip to Washington. At the close of drill a new recruit was added to the membership of the company.

OPTION ON METSCHLAND

It Was Taken by a Well
Recommended Stranger.

WILL DECIDE WITHIN 30 DAYS

If the Property Is Purchased an Industry of Some Sort Will Soon Occupy It—Mr. Metsch Will Not Confirm the Report, but Others Do.

An option has been taken on the property owned by Christian Metsch on the river front, and, if the price is not too high, it will in the near future be owned by a company who propose to build and operate a factory.

So much and very little more is known of a deal made in the city yesterday afternoon. A stranger came with good recommendations from some town, the name of which is not given to the public, and had a long conference with Mr. Metsch. He represented a manufacturing concern, and wanted to buy the property. The business was given in detail to Mr. Metsch, and the conference ended by the stranger taking an option on the land. It will be in force 30 days. He left the city last evening.

Mr. Metsch was questioned about his visitor, but had nothing to say. He would not deny that negotiations were on for the sale of the property, neither would he confirm the story told him by the NEWS REVIEW. It is known, however, that the option was taken, and within 30 days East Liverpool will know whether it is to have another manufacturing concern. The few people acquainted with the facts will not give out any information tending to throw light on the matter.

MAY GET AN OFFICE.

Delegates To Zanesville Have the Rod Up.

There are some people in East Liverpool who would not be surprised if the lightning of popular approval would strike in the direction of a delegate from this place, and the meeting of Republican clubs at Zanesville would send him home clothed with the authority of vice president.

It has been known for some time that the McKinley club was anxious to have a representation among the state officers, and some quiet work was being done with this end in view. A leading member is responsible for the statement that the matter has gone far beyond that point, and he would be surprised if the office did not come this way. The McKinley club will send at least six delegates to the Zanesville convention, and it is possible that there will be more. Other young politicians in the state would like to be vice president, but it is believed the Liverpool man is not making the fight without some good assurance that he will be well supported. The delegates leave for Zanesville tomorrow, and will return on Saturday.

AN IMPUDENT TRAMP

Steals an Umbrella From a Grocery Store.

An impudent tramp walked into a Fourth street grocery yesterday afternoon, and roughly asked for something to eat. He was told to get out. Soon after the fellow left, the absence of an umbrella was noted. A customer in the store saw the tramp take the umbrella, but did not think he was stealing it. The authorities were informed of the theft, but the guilty party has not been apprehended.

Wants It Changed.

Gus Mautz called on Clerk Hanley yesterday in behalf of many Second street residents, and requested that the location of the light to be placed in Locust alley, midway between Second and Third streets, be changed, and placed at the intersection of Second street. Mautz interviewed almost every member of the light committee.

Like a Comanche.

Chief Johnson arrested Charles Crawford, an umbrella fixer, on Second street, last evening. The man was very drunk, and was yelling like a Comanche when taken in custody. He has not yet been arraigned.

An old man was given shelter in jail over night. He said he was a potter, and his home was in Baltimore.

West End Mud.

Residents of West End hail with delight even the smallest sign of cold weather, as they think they will not be compelled to use boats in order to reach their homes. The mud in their section of the city is very deep, and the person living in that vicinity who reaches Sixth street without being covered is a lucky man.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, FEB. 9.

HELP THE CAUSE.

Every good and worthy cause should be helped by every good and worthy man or woman who is able to extend help. If you can't give a thousand dollars, a hundred dollars, fifty dollars, or even twenty-five dollars, don't get disgruntled or discouraged. Your mite may be the very thing that is needed to help the good cause along and carry it to a successful consummation. Take stock in the good cause, all the same, and you may receive a richer blessing than the fellow who planks down his check for the thousand dollar contribution. And all this preamble means that the News Review wants you to help build that new edifice for the congregation of the Christian church of East Liverpool. And you can do this, to some extent at least, by securing seats at once for the entertainment to be given at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, February 11, and you can do double duty by taking your best girl with you; and you'd better be hustling, as the choice seats are going off like hot cakes at Reed's drug store. Selah.

HAS THE RIGHT KING.

"The grand lodge of masons of Minnesota adopted a resolution barring all those who sell intoxicants from becoming masons in this jurisdiction." Other secret societies, strong and powerful, are falling into line. Let the good work go on. Politicians, clean of life and keen of brain, are falling into line, and dare to bid defiance to the whiskey ring. Some time since, a whiskey potentate of East Liverpool dared to call a clean lived politician of this section to order, telling him that such and such things must be done, must be acceded to, or the Republican party would suffer dire consequences. The fearless politician gave the pith of the following in answer: "Stow that chaff and carry your commands and orders elsewhere. Time was when the dirty whiskey ring could enforce such orders as you have just given. But that day has passed away, and your clutch on the throat of Republicanism has been loosed, never again to possess its old time power. Carry your wares elsewhere, my fine fellow; your liquor league has lost its grip." Turn on the light and speed the day of redemption. The Grand Old Party desires no death's head like unto the rum demon marking the fair page of its life record.

TURN ON THE LIGHT.

The man or woman of average common sense, those who make something of a study of human life and actions, know that history has demonstrated the fact that "truth is mighty and must prevail." And common observation develops the fact that history repeats itself. This note of warning is given to certain maliciously inclined individuals residing in East Liverpool; a class possessed of a certain low species of cunning, which they, in their meanness and egotism, have imagined is genuine brain power, but which is as far removed from that power as is heaven from hades. These petty creatures have been attempting to create the impression in the public mind that serious trouble exists in a highly esteemed and very worthy organization of this city. Webster defines a "lie" as an "attempt to deceive." Well, these cunning and unscrupulous characters have been guilty of an attempt to deceive the public at large respecting the organization referred to, and the evidence of their meanness and guilt will be produced in these columns at the proper time. These unscrupulous ones have even gone so far as to appear in public print, of course hiding their real names from the public, and have dared to insinuate that they represent the life and character of the organization mentioned above. So far have they departed from the truth that they have actually led certain so-called newspapers into a trap from which the said journals cannot extricate themselves, as one of the so-called newspapers has made assertion after assertion which is the exact opposite of truth, and which will be so branded, at the proper time, by official action on the part of the organization referred to. Poor, unfortunate, misguided, miserable wretches, filled with malice and hate. When will ye learn that cunning, lying and treachery must be overthrown; that "truth is mighty and must prevail." Turn on the light. Selah.

A SAFETY CAR FOR M'KINLEY.

The Major Will Be Well Protected on His Journey to Washington.

CANTON, O., Feb. 9.—President-elect McKinley will go from Canton to Washington in a remarkable car. It is a private car without a name, save that it is known all over the Panhandle system as No. 38. The walls are of white-oak, planked solid instead of the usual studding.

If it should roll down an embankment the sides could not break, and it would resist almost any kind of a shock in a collision. The top is a double framework of steel and the ceiling is thoroughly cushioned. The floors are four thicknesses of white oak. The entire car is a huge safety box.

The chief luxury of the interior is the perfect arrangement of everything pertaining to human comfort. It has an old fashioned log fire place and two palatial bedroom apartments, and a bath opening from each chamber. There is a magnificent silver service and a large collection of rare china.

KURTZ MAY BE SENATOR.

Said at Columbus to Be as Definitely Settled as It Can Be.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—The Ohio State Journal makes this positive declaration: "Hon. C. L. Kurtz, chairman of the Republican state executive committee, will probably be the next senator from Ohio. In case of the resignation of Senator Sherman, he will be appointed to succeed him. This can be announced as the outcome of the present senatorial difficulty and is given on the best of authority."

"While Governor Bushnell will not commit himself to any positive statement and will make no declaration of his intentions, it can be safely put down that the purpose is to select Mr. Kurtz as the successor of Senator Sherman. It now lacks only Senator Sherman's resignation and the official announcement which will follow closely."

JONES CAN BE SENATOR.

He Only Has to Ask and He Will Succeed Sherman.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—The statement is made public here as coming from the Lieutenant-Governor Jones' law partner, Mr. Anderson, that Senator-elect Foraker said to Anderson at the state convention that if Jones would accept the nomination for lieutenant-governor he (Foraker) would see that Jones would be his colleague in the senate, provided the Foraker men were in the saddle.

Mr. Anderson says Jones can have the senatorial appointment if he has the courage to ask for it.

AN APPEAL TO GREECE.

The Cretan Committee Issues a Proclamation—Fighting Continues.

ATHENS, Feb. 9.—The Cretan committee here has issued a proclamation addressed to the people of Greece calling for assistance from all freemen.

The latest news from Crete is to the effect that fighting outside the city still continues, and that a provisional Cretan government is being formed.

The fires, which were started as a result of the conflicts between Muslims and Christians, have been completely extinguished. By far the larger portion of the town is, however, a heap of ruins.

COTELL IN THE PEN.

The Akron Murderer Taken to Columbus For Life.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—Sheriff Williams has arrived from Akron over the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus railroad, bringing with him Romulus Cotell, who pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree last Monday for the killing of the Stone family, and who was sentenced to imprisonment for life. Cotell was in good spirits and health.

This is his second time in the penitentiary, he having been there for three months while under death sentence before the supreme court granted him a new trial.

Felt Dead To A Polit.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 9.—Mrs. William I. Fee, aged wife of Rev. Mr. Fee, a well known former Methodist minister here, fell dead in the pulpit while exhorting at a big revival at Felicity. Women screamed and men wept. The couple celebrated their golden wedding three months ago.

SHARP TALK BY LEXOW

Told Sugar Magnate Searles He Must Produce His Books.

AGREED TO DO SO SATURDAY.

The Officers of the American Tobacco Company Alleged to Have Fled to Escape Investigation—Searles Denies Implications of Monopoly.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—John E. Searles, secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining company was on hand when the joint legislative committee on trusts reconvened in this city. Mr. Searles left his home in Brooklyn for Canton, O., last Thursday evening, after having been served with a subpoena and the committee was disposed at its sitting on Friday to declare him in contempt and take steps for his punishment. Senator Lexow said some action would be taken after the committee was through with him.

Mr. Searles said that he purchased individually and held all the stock of the North River Refining company. Mr. Searles gave the stereotyped reply, "I cannot recall," to a series of questions propounded by Senator Lexow in regard to purchase of the North River Refining company, including the inquiry if the price was not about $325,000.

Asked as to the present whereabouts of the company's books at that time witness said it was his opinion they had been obtained by himself.

At the conclusion of the lecture the Prince of Wales presented him with a large gold medal. It is the second time only that this medal has been given to an explorer. Henry M. Stanley was the first to be thus honored.

GREAT HONOR TO NANSEN.

Prince of Wales Presented Him a Medal Like Stanley Received.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—There was an impressive scene at the Royal Albert hall when, amid the cheers of an audience of about 7,000 persons, the Prince of Wales presented Dr. Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, with the special medal of the Royal Geographical society.

Earlier in the evening Dr. Nansen was dined at the Imperial institute, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and other notabilities of the Royal Geographical society being present. The party then repaired to the Royal Albert hall, where an immense audience awaited them. Ambassador Bayard was present.

Dr. Nansen, who was accorded a most enthusiastic reception, delivered his lecture in a modest manner and illustrated the subject by photographs, which had been obtained by himself.

At the conclusion of the lecture the Prince of Wales presented him with a large gold medal. It is the second time only that this medal has been given to an explorer. Henry M. Stanley was the first to be thus honored.

DESTITUTION AMONG MINERS.

A Committee From Finleyville, Pa., Seeking Aid In Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—Great destitution is reported among the miners on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The only mines that have been working at all during the past three weeks are the Germania and Nottingham, operated by Henry Floorheim. These mines have not been working steadily, and but few men received full pay.

A committee composed of James Sabin, William O'Donnell, Frank McKenna and Samuel Kelly are here from Finleyville. They represent the distressed miners on the division, and are here to solicit aid. Mr. Sabin said that had it not been for some of the generous storekeepers many of the diggers and their families would have gone hungry over Sunday. "The wife of Ad. Brandy, one of the diggers at the Germania mine," said he, "died yesterday morning, leaving her husband and nine children, the youngest only three days old, and there is not a nickel in the house to bury her."

INTERCEDED FOR SCOVEL.

Consul General Lee Made a Visit to the Spanish Authorities.

HAVANA, Feb. 9.—Consul General Lee has visited General Ahumada, acting captain general during the absence of General Weyler, on behalf of Sylvester Scovel, the war correspondent of the New York World, recently arrested by Spanish guerrillas near Tunas in the southern part of the province of Santa Clara. General Ahumada, referring to the case, said that Scovel had been transferred to Sancti Spiritus.

He announced that Scovel had been turned over to the civil authorities, and that he would be tried according to the treaty between the United States and Spain. General Ahumada also said that he is now investigating the matter.

A FIRE IN PITTSBURGH.

Big Building Destroyed and Others Damaged—Man Fatally Hurt.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—The large four-story building occupied by Taylor Bros., 814 and 816 Fifth avenue, was completely destroyed by fire last night. The saloon and hotel of P. Lohnes, at 810 and 812, and the drygoods house of A. Cohen, 818 Fifth avenue, were badly damaged.

Several dwelling houses were partially crushed by falling walls. Edward Franklin received probably fatal injuries. Loss, $120,000; partially insured.

No Proof Against Them.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Charles E. Foley, the ticket seller, and George E. McCoy, the ticket chopper, who were arrested last Saturday on suspicion of being responsible for the death of Chas. D. Weber, the horse dealer, from Fort Wayne, Ind., have been released on parole. No proof had been produced to show that either one of the men struck the blow.

A Sensational Assault.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 9.—Hon. Hugh Brinkley, a wealthy and prominent citizen and at present one of the police commissioners, has assaulted with a cane and seriously injured ex-Congressman William R. Moore. The trouble grew out of the issuance of a salty circular by Colonel Moore attacking Brinkley.

A Negro Hung For Burglary.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 9.—Monroe Johnson, the notorious burglar, has been hanged in the jail here. Johnson was convicted of burglary in the first degree. Johnson broke into the house of C. A. Shields. Miss Shields was badly wounded, but recovered.

Killed by Gas.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A man who registered as "E. Lowenstein, Chicago, Ill.," has been found dead in his room in the Adelphi hotel, having been asphyxiated by gas.

The Pope Was Present.

ROME, Feb. 9.—The pope was present at the requiem mass for the repose of the soul of the late Pope Pius IX. This memorial service was conducted in the Sistine chapel.

to them that if they could so arrange their affairs he would like to have them sit all next week, when an investigation of the American Tobacco company will be made. The subpoena servers have had some trouble in reaching the officials of the tobacco company for the reason that most of them are out of the city and they report that only one official, George Arents, treasurer, has been served.

This has given rise to various rumors to the effect that the members were frightened into avoiding the committee by leaving the city and that the company had moved its books to New Jersey. Chairman Lexow, when asked if he had heard of these rumors, said that he had, but that he assumed that the books were still within the jurisdiction of the committee. The company has an office in New Jersey as well as in New York. James B. Duke, president of the company, was reported as at his home in Somerville, N. J. William H. Butler is in Europe.

ROUGH ON THE TREATY

Objections to Arbitration In the Senate.

FRIENDS CLAIM IT WILL WIN.

But They Admit That It Will Be Some Time Before They Can Secure a Vote.

Sherman Pleads For Its Passage—Senator Morgan's Speech.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The consideration of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty was in executive session, and consequently behind closed doors. The first half of the session was spent in debating a motion introduced by Senator Hill to consider the treaty in open session, which was defeated, 9 to 49. This is not considered a test vote.

It is claimed that the straight Republican vote is solidly favorable to ratification, and that a fraction at least of all the other elements will be found in that column when the vote is announced. It was made apparent, however, that the treaty would stand no chance without the committee amendments.

The supporters of the agreement are not, however, so sanguine of early action as of a favorable result when secured. A quite determined spirit of delay was made manifest, and when Senator Sherman expressed the hope that consideration could be concluded at another sitting Senator Taylor told him frankly that he would be disappointed in this respect, intimating that several more sessions would be necessary to the complete consideration of a matter of importance so great and so far reaching in its results.

Sensor Sherman, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, spoke for about an hour, making a strong plea for the ratification of the treaty, which he urged was the realization of a dream which had long been cherished in the United States. He quoted historical works and congressional reports to show that arbitration was a distinctly American policy, and referred to the resolutions of 1899 and 1903 as proof of this statement. He also explained the amendments made by the committee on foreign relations and defended the main amendment as essential to the proper understanding and interpretation of the agreement. He urged that this amendment did not detract from the treaty's scope except that through removing the Monroe doctrine from arbitration it also removed the question of the Nicaragua canal, which, he said, embraced in the Monroe doctrine.

Sensor Sherman contended for the paramount importance of the treaty and urged the senate to act upon it without unnecessary delay, as only by pursuing this course could the wishes of the country and the expectations of the civilized world be met.

He said that the amendment eliminating the king of Sweden and Norway as umpire had been made after due deliberation and that this step was only taken as a precaution against unwelcome complications.

In conclusion, the senator said it would be a great mistake for the senate to repudiate the treaty—a mistake which would forfeit much of the high regard felt toward the United States as a nation of peace lovers, and which might exert a serious influence upon the progress of the world in the settlement of disputes without resorting to the atrocities of war.

Sensor Morgan replied to Mr. Sherman, speaking in opposition to the treaty. The Alabama senator's argument was largely constitutional in tendency. He dwelt with especial emphasis upon its sweeping character, claiming that in delegating to the treaty does, to the president the right to determine for this country the circumstances under which arbitration shall be resorted to, it robbed congress of a prerogative especially conferred upon it. In reply to a question from Senator Vest, put so as to show that such was the Missouri senator's conviction, Senator Morgan said that he believed the ratification of the treaty would amount to an abrogation of the right of the senate to co-operate with the executive in the making of treaties.

Sensor Morgan said that there probably were few Americans who would be willing to announce themselves as opposed to the principle of arbitration, but it did not follow that everyone must swallow the first measure presented which professed to put into execution this method of settling disputes between nations. He said that it behooved all persons to regard with especial caution the overtures of Great Britain in such an interest, and remarked that the inland kingdom had never been especially known for her devotion to the welfare of the United States.

Sensor Daniel intimated opposition to ratification on account of the danger of entangling alliances, and Senator Turpie asked a number of questions pointing in the same direction.

Sensor Nelson made a plea for the ratification of the clause containing King Oscar of Norway and Sweden in such a manner that the treaty would be a benign ruler and a man whose sympathies were largely with America. He said the treaty of 1856 between Sweden, England and France had long since lost its significance, as it was negotiated during the Crimean war for the purpose of preventing an alliance between Sweden and Russia, which would have resulted in blocking the Baltic sea against the allied powers.

Mr. Sherman gave notice that he would ask the senate to take up the question again to-day and to "sit it out."

THE CUBAN REFORMS.

Minister De Lome Dilates on the Liberalization of His Government.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—"No colony in the world with the exception of Canada and New South Wales will have as large a measure of liberty as Cuba will have when the new reform scheme is fully developed," said Senator Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister.

The minister had before him the full project for the reformation of the system of government of Cuba as gazetted in Madrid and had made an analysis of the document, with the result that he arrived at the conclusion indicated. No time is set for the application of the reforms.

ROUGH ON THE TREATY

Objections to Arbitration In the Senate.

FRIENDS CLAIM IT WILL WIN.

But They Admit That It Will Be Some Time Before They Can Secure a Vote.

Sherman Pleads For Its Passage—Senator Morgan's Speech.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The consideration of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty was in executive session, and consequently behind closed doors. The first half of the session was spent in debating a motion introduced by Senator Hill to consider the treaty in open session, which was defeated, 9 to 49. This is not considered a test vote.

It is claimed that the straight Republican vote is solidly favorable to ratification, and that a fraction at least of all the other elements will be found in that column when the vote is announced. It was made apparent, however, that the treaty would stand no chance without the committee amendments.

The supporters of the agreement are not, however, so sanguine of early action as of a favorable result when secured. A quite determined spirit of delay was made manifest, and when Senator Sherman expressed the hope that consideration could be concluded at another sitting Senator Taylor told him frankly that he would be disappointed in this respect, intimating that several more sessions would be necessary to the complete consideration of a matter of importance so great and so far reaching in its results.

Sensor Sherman, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, spoke for about an hour, making a strong plea for the ratification of the treaty, which he urged was the realization of a dream which had long been cherished in the United States. He quoted historical works and congressional reports to show that arbitration was a distinctly American policy, and referred to the resolutions of 1899 and 1903 as proof of this statement. He also explained the amendments made by the committee on foreign relations and defended the main amendment as essential to the proper understanding and interpretation of the agreement. He urged that this amendment did not detract from the treaty's scope except that through removing the Monroe doctrine from arbitration it also removed the question of the Nicaragua canal, which, he said, embraced in the Monroe doctrine.

Sensor Sherman contended for the paramount importance of the treaty and urged the senate to act upon it without unnecessary delay, as only by pursuing this course could the wishes of the country and the expectations of the civilized world be met.

He said that the amendment eliminating the king of Sweden and Norway as umpire had been made after due deliberation and that this step was only taken as a precaution against unwelcome complications.

In conclusion, the senator said it would be a great mistake for the senate to repudiate the treaty—a mistake which would forfeit much of the high regard felt toward the United States as a nation of peace lovers, and which might exert a serious influence upon the progress of the world in the settlement of disputes without resorting to the atrocities of war.

Sensor Morgan replied to Mr. Sherman, speaking in opposition to the treaty. The Alabama senator's argument was largely constitutional in tendency. He dwelt with especial emphasis upon its sweeping character, claiming that in delegating to the treaty does, to the president the right to determine for this country the circumstances under which arbitration shall be resorted to, it robbed congress of a prerogative especially conferred upon it. In reply to a question from Senator Vest, put so as to show that such was the Missouri senator's conviction, Senator Morgan said that he believed the ratification of the treaty would amount to an abrogation of the right of the senate to co-operate with the executive in the making of treaties.

Sensor Morgan said that there probably were few Americans who would be willing to announce themselves as opposed to the principle of arbitration, but it did not follow that everyone must swallow the first measure presented which professed to put into execution this method of settling disputes between nations. He said that it behooved all persons to regard with especial caution the overtures of Great Britain in such an interest, and remarked that the inland kingdom had never been especially known for her devotion to the welfare of the United States.

Sensor Daniel intimated opposition to ratification on account of the danger of entangling alliances, and Senator Turpie asked a number of questions pointing in the same direction.

Sensor Nelson made a plea for the ratification of the clause containing King Oscar of Norway and Sweden in such a manner that the treaty would be a benign ruler and a man whose sympathies were largely with America. He said the treaty of 1856 between Sweden, England and France had long since lost its significance, as it was negotiated during the Crimean war for the purpose of preventing an alliance between Sweden and Russia, which would have resulted in blocking the Baltic sea against the allied powers.

Mr. Sherman gave notice that he would ask the senate to take up the question again to-day and to "sit it out."

HELP THE CAUSE.

Every good and worthy cause should be helped by every good and worthy man or woman who is able to extend help. If you can't give a thousand dollars, a hundred dollars, fifty dollars, or even twenty-five dollars, don't get disheartened or discouraged. Your mite may be the very thing that is needed to help the good cause along and carry it to a successful consummation. Take stock in the good cause, all the same,

and you may receive a richer blessing than the fellow who planks down his check for the thousand dollar contribution. And all this preamble means that the NEWS REVIEW wants you to help build that new edifice for the congregation of the Christian church of East Liverpool. And you can do this, to some extent at least, by securing seats at once for the entertainment to be given at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, February 11, and you can do double duty by taking your best girl with you; and you'd better be hustling, as the choice seats are going off like hot cakes at Reed's drug store. Selah.

HAS THE RIGHT RING.

"The grand lodge of masons of Minnesota adopted a resolution barring all those who sell intoxicants from becoming masons in this jurisdiction." Other secret societies, strong and powerful, are falling into line. Let the good work go on. Politicians, clean of life and keen of brain, are falling into line,

and dare to bid defiance to the whiskey ring. Some time since, a whiskey potentate of East Liverpool dared to call a clean lived politician of this section to order, telling him that such and such things must be done, must be acceded to, or the Republican party would suffer dire consequences. The fearless politician gave the pith of the following in answer: "Stow that chaff and carry your commands and orders elsewhere.

Time was when the dirty whiskey ring could enforce such orders as you have just given. But that day has passed away, and your clutch on the throat of Republicanism has been loosed, never again to possess its old time power.

Carry your wares elsewhere, my fine fellow; your liquor league has lost its grip." Turn on the light and speed the day of redemption. The Grand Old

Party desires no death's head like unto the rum demon marking the fair page of its life record.

TURN ON THE LIGHT.

The man or woman of average common sense, those who make something of a study of human life and actions, know that history has demonstrated the fact that "truth is mighty and must prevail." And common observation develops the fact that history repeats itself. This note of warning is given to certain maliciously inclined individuals residing in East Liverpool; a class possessed of a certain low species of cunning, which they, in their meanness and egotism, have imagined is genuine brain power, but which is as far removed from that power as is heaven from hades. These petty creatures have been attempting to create the impression in the public mind that serious trouble exists in a highly esteemed and very worthy organization of this city. Webster defines a "lie" as an "attempt to deceive."

Well, these cunning and unscrupulous characters have been guilty of an attempt to deceive the public at large respecting the organization referred to,

and the evidence of their meanness and guilt will be produced in these columns at the proper time. These unscrupulous ones have even gone so far as to appear in public print, of course hiding their real names from the public, and have dared to insinuate that they represent the life and character of the organization mentioned above.

So far have they departed from the truth that they have actually led certain so-called newspapers into a trap from which the said journals cannot extricate themselves, as one of the so-called newspapers has made assertion after assertion which is the exact opposite of truth, and which will be so branded, at the proper time, by official action on the part of the organization referred to.

Poor, unfortunate, misguided, miserable wretches, filled with malice and hate.

When will ye learn that cunning, lying and treachery must be overwhelmed;

that "truth is mighty and must prevail";

A SAFETY CAR FOR M'KINLEY.

The Major Will Be Well Protected on

His Journey to Washington.

CANTON, O., Feb. 9.—President-elect

McKinley will go from Canton to Washington in a remarkable car. It is a private car without a name, save that it is known all over the Panhandle system as No. 38. The walls are of white-oak, planked solid instead of the usual studding.

If it should roll down an embankment

the sides could not break, and it would resist almost any kind of a shock in a collision. The top is a double framework of steel and the ceiling is thoroughly cushioned. The floors are four thicknesses of white oak. The entire car is a huge safety box.

The chief luxury of the interior is the perfect arrangement of everything pertaining to human comfort. It has an old fashioned log fire place and two palatial bedroom apartments, and a bath opening from each chamber. There is a magnificent silver service and a large collection of rare china.

KURTZ MAY BE SENATOR.

Said at Columbus to Be as Definitely Settled as It Can Be.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—The Ohio State

Journal makes this positive declaration:

"Hon. C. L. Kurtz, chairman of the Republican state executive committee, will probably be the next senator from Ohio. In case of the resignation of Senator Sherman, he will be appointed to succeed him. This can be announced as the outcome of the present senatorial difficulty and is given on the best of authority.

"While Governor Bushnell will not commit himself to any positive statement and will make no declaration of his intentions, it can be safely put down that the purpose is to select Mr.

Kurtz as the successor of Senator Sherman. It now lacks only Senator Sherman's resignation and the official anouncement which will follow closely."

JONES CAN BE SENATOR.

He Only Has to Ask and He Will Succeed

Sherman.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 9.—The statement is made public here as coming from the

Lieutenant-Governor Jones' law partner, Mr. Anderson, that Senator-elect

Foraker said to Anderson at the state convention that if Jones would accept the nomination for lieutenant-governor

he (Foraker) would see that Jones would be his colleague in the senate, provided the Foraker men were in the saddle.

Mr. Anderson says Jones can have the senatorial appointment if he has the courage to ask for it.

BUNCE IN THE BLOW.

His Blockading Fleet Got Badly Knocked About.

FOUR KILLED, ONE FATALLY HURT.

Other Seamen So Injured They May Lose Limbs—The Marblehead Badly Damaged—Other Ships Injured—Three Men Heroically Rescued.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 9.—Admiral Bunce's blockading squadron is in port after a disastrous voyage from Hampton Roads. Three men were lost overboard from the battleship Maine during the gale of Friday, one man was crushed to death on the cruiser Marblehead, another was fatally injured and six others were so badly hurt that several may lose limbs. The details of the accidents on the Marblehead are not obtainable, but it seems that the cruiser made bad weather of the blow. As she lies off the jetty she presents a disheveled appearance. Her foremast is masted away, a portion of her superstructure and two hatches carried away. The heavy seas that swept her decks also carried away her search light, lower port bow, smashed the rails and swept overboard the lifeboats. The others of the fleet show marks of their rough voyage, their upper works and deck hamper being damaged.

The ships left the roads Thursday morning and put to sea. Friday evening the weather thickened, and by night was blowing a gale. The Indiana returned to the roads, owing to the condition of her turrets. The rest of the fleet, however, poked their noses into the storm and headed south, and experienced a terrible storm. The battleship Maine rolled in the big seas, the water washing her decks at every plunge. A gang of men were ordered forward to make more secure the lashings of the big guns. Six of the gang were picked up and carried overboard before they could escape a heavy wave.

A boat's crew under Naval Cadet Walter R. Gherardi, son of Rear Admiral Gherardi, retired, was finally lowered, excellent seamanship alone preventing the frail craft from being crushed against the sides of the big battleship.

The waves ran so high that the little boat was hidden from the vessel's deck as it rushed down into the trough. Meantime the drowning men fought bravely, and three of them managed to keep afloat until their mates hauled them from the water. They were Seamen Hassel, Cronan and Freeman. The remaining three, Brown, Nelson and Kogel, were not to be seen. Cadet Gherardi and his boat's crew were highly complimented by the officers for their brave work.

The officers say it was one of the worst gales the fleet has ever experienced.

MCKINLEY'S CALLERS.

Haywood and Mylin Two of Them—Cochran Visited Hanna.

CANTON, O., Feb. 9.—Among Major McKinley's callers have been Editor Kohlsaat and Journalist Truman DeWeese of Chicago. DeWeese wants to be minister to Mexico.

Governor-elect Atkinson and Colonel Morris Harkheimer of Chicago, also called.

Two prominent Pennsylvanians were callers. They were State Treasurer Haywood and Auditor General Ames N. Mylin. When seen they said they had come here to shake hands with the president-elect and not on political matters. They spoke highly of Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9.—Hon. Bourke Cochran of New York, has called on Chairman Hanna. He denies there was any political significance in his visit.

KING OF BENIN WILL FIGHT.

He Sends a Challenge to the British. Forming an Expedition.

BRASS, Guinea Coast, Feb. 9.—The king of Benin, who caused the massacre of Consul Phillips' party, to avenge which a punitive expedition is now being fitted out, has sent a message saying that if the whites choose to fight he will come and fight them with his soldiers at the waterside as they land. The king adds that if his soldiers are killed he will send more and if these are killed he will retire to the backwoods.

Cashier McFarland Surrendered.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 9.—Lee B. McFarland, the defaulting teller of the Second National bank here, has surrendered before United States Commissioner T. O. Bullock, charged with intent to defraud. McFarland pleaded not guilty. He gave a $10,000 bond. McFarland's uncle offers to make good the entire shortage of $43,000 if McFarland is not prosecuted.

An Immense Oil Lease.

REFORM OF THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The Annual Report to the President Shows Great Progress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The thirteenth annual report of the civil service commission, covering the past fiscal year, has been submitted to the president. The commission's warning to employees during the campaign that they could not be forced to contribute to political funds, the report says, had a most salutary effect.

One investigation, whose report is still under investigation, was made at the Columbus (O.) postoffice over a year ago. It developed the fact that for years it was the practice of many employees, without regard to their party affiliations, to contribute to the campaign fund of whatever party was in power. The most serious case of violation of the civil service law, the report says, was at Erie, Pa., where the secretary of the postal board was found to have opened a package containing the examination papers and furnished the questions to a competitor, an employee of the office, in advance of examination. Both were removed from the service and are now held for trial. At the Toledo (O.) postoffice an employee was shown to have made false representations to injure the prospects of appointment of certain other eligibles. Action in this case is still pending.

During the last four years the removals from competitive positions in the classified department service at Washington have been less than two per cent, a year for all causes, not including such removals as resulted from necessary reductions in the force. In the unclassified and excepted service at Washington, the removals are believed to have aggregated in the four years at least 50 per cent.

The total approximate number of positions in the civil branch of the government is 176,717. Of these 87,107 are in the classified service and 91,610 unclassified. Of those not yet classified 66,725 are postmasters of the fourth class. Of those remaining in the classifiable but unclassified group many will be transferred to the classified service by the action of the rules.

There are now nearly 10,000 persons in the public service commissioned by the president, and this number is growing every year. At this rate of increase, says the report, in a few years it will be physically impossible for the president and cabinet officers to attend to them.

The commission is of the opinion that the fourth class postoffices may be included in the classification by executive order. When these extensions of the classification have been made and the four-year tenure of office acts are repealed, and regulations in successful operation in all the departments requiring promotions to be based on the efficiency of employees, the reforms in executive civil service, it is said, will be practically complete.

Favor a Bounty to Sugar Men.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The petition of the sugar planters of the south and west for an appropriation of $1,048,000 to pay the sugar bounty in full on the crop which was planted under the McKinley law and harvested under the Wilson law, will be granted by the house committee on appropriations.

BRIGHT THE NEWS REVIEW.

DRAGGED BY A TRAIN

Yardmaster Savage Was Almost Killed.

HE HELD TO THE BOX CAR

And Escaped Being Thrown Under the Wheels—His Foot Slipped as He Was About to Board It—A Wheel Mashed the End of His Shoe.

Arthur Savage was dragged the entire length of the receiving platform at the freight depot last night, and to the few horrified spectators it seemed that he would be ground to pieces.

Savage is the yardmaster, and has an office at the depot. Last night the pony was backing a train of freight cars up the track, and Savage attempted to board a box car. As he caught the iron on the car and was about to spring his foot slipped on the ice, and he fell. Fortunately he possessed sufficient presence of mind to retain his hold. The train was moving so fast that he could not regain his footing, and he was dragged the entire length of the platform. At one time the motion of the train threw his body violently against the car, and one foot was across the rail. A wheel passed over the end of his shoe but did not touch the foot. Savage was almost giving up in despair when he regained his footing and the cars came to a standstill. The only injury received was to his feet, one of them being so badly swollen this morning that he could not put on his shoe.

MADE THEM SKIP.

Officer Morgan keeps His Eyes on Questionable Characters.

Officer Morgan on his rounds found two Liverpool ladies of questionable character loafing and entertaining their sweethearts on Brimstone Corner the other evening, and commanded them to leave the locality, threatening them with arrest. Needless to say they made tracks for their resort on Coal street.

The parties in question have been in the city since Sunday. The Bowery had its usual amount of hilarity on tap Saturday night, and had so much in store that the rowdism was carried over until Sunday night, much to the annoyance of church goers. The police are aware of this conduct, but have no authority to go into the resorts and quiet them unless called by the proprietors, but the city could enact an ordinance that would drive them out of town.

TAKING TESTIMONY

In That Old Electric Light Company Case.

The case in the final winding up of the old electric light trouble was set for trial at city hall yesterday afternoon, and a number of witnesses examined. Suit had been brought by R. T. McDonald, receiver of the Ft. Wayne Electric company. Morris C. Tarr and about 35 others are defendants, and R. T. McDonald and the stockholders are the plaintiffs. The case was brought to enforce the statutory liability, and was referred to W. W. Hole, of Salem, as referee. Mr. Hole is hearing the case now, and will continue from day to day until it is decided. Billingsley, Taylor and Clark are representing the plaintiffs, and Ambler & Son and A. G. Smith are representing the defendants. The case was adjourned until today, and testimony is still being taken.

NOT A SERMON.

But Reverend Naylor Gave Some Good Advice.

Reverend Naylor did not preach a sermon last evening, but gave the church a good lecture containing a vast amount of common sense. Acting on the principle that allowed Paul to correct the church at Rome he told them some plain things. Some members, it seems, have gone from the beaten path, and it was necessary to remind them of it.

This evening he will again take up his sermons, and continue for the present week and the next. A large audience was in attendance, and much interest was manifested.

THE BOY CAME BACK.

He Was Lost and His Parents Were Anxious.

Little Charley Swarts, son of William Swarts, has again turned up alive. When last heard of Saturday afternoon he had gone to skate. When he did not return late in the evening his father became uneasy, and thought he had slipped through the ice or had been carried away by the break up in the river. Monday evening he heard his son was in Hammondsville where he had gone without his knowledge. Charles is accustomed to leaving home suddenly.

Raided a House.

Officers Cohagen and Morgan raided a disorderly house on Hill street last evening. Four men and two women were captured. Several persons escaped. Each pleaded guilty and was fined $5. Two paid and were released.

The News of Wellsville.

Frank Sainer, who has been confined to his home for many days is still unable to be about.

Mrs. Robert Leith felt from the steps recently, and now nurses a badly strained arm as the result.

Harry Culp was quite seriously burned while at work in the rolling mill yesterday afternoon.

The small child of Mrs. John Hamilton struck a match too close to some drapery yesterday and fired it. The mother smelling the smoke investigated, and found the flames spreading rapidly. She quickly extinguished the blaze, and now the matches are placed one shelf higher in the cupboard.

It is being kept just as quiet as possible, but one of our young ladies and a young man of East Liverpool will soon

wed. By request, both names are withheld from the public for the present.

Mrs. Berry is again confined to her bed with a relapse of fever.

Jimmy Martin, a Liverpool boy, was caught peacefully sleeping on the curbstone by Officer Morgan Sunday evening, and, to keep him out of mischief, the officer locked him up. Martin paid the regulation for his hotel bill. Our officers are very kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Bunting have returned from Cleveland.

Mrs. A. Fisher is one of the grip's victims.

The case of Harry Quinn versus Wally Fogo came up in Justice Riley's court today. Fogo sued for a balance of $9.50 due on account.

General Riley, for some time a sufferer with nervous prostration and grip, is convalescent, and will be seen on the streets the first fair day.

THE DOCTOR'S STORY.

An Experience That Followed a Call at Night.

Four or five physicians were talking up town the other evening at the home of one, and the conversation later turned to shop. One of them had recently moved his office down town, and there was some discussion as to the advisability of separating house and office.

"Well," said the separatist, "I can't see any difference so long as I am at my office during office hours."

"Let me tell you a story," remarked the oldest man in the party. "Thirty years ago, when I began practice, I lived in Virginia, and for a year or two I slept in my office. Then I married, and my wife owned a nice house, and I went to it to live. It sat back from the street about 50 feet, and we decided that it would be much nicer if we had my office out on the street in the far corner of the lot. Only 50 feet away, you will observe, but still it was enough. In order to see such callers as came during the night I had a night bell and a speaking tube connecting the front door of the office with my bedroom. You see, I did not want a patient to escape under any circumstances."

"Well, everything went nicely enough for three years or so, when one night a ring came to my bell. It was then about 2 o'clock in the morning, and the ring was a hot one. I asked who it was, and the answer came from a friend of mine to the effect that he was a mighty sick man and wanted to see me at once. I told him to come around to the house and I would meet him at the door and take care of him. Then I got up, and, putting on my dressing gown and slippers, I proceeded to the front door. But there was no one there and no one in sight on the way between the gate and the house."

"That was odd, and I went back and called through the tube to know what was wrong. I received no answer, and, being quite unable to account for it, I took my lamp—it was a very dark and still night—and started to go out and investigate. Just as I was about to step off the porch I lowered my lamp to get a better light on the step, and there at the foot of the porch lay a body. I turned it over at once, and as the light fell on the face I saw it was my friend who had only a minute before spoken to me. He was quite dead. And when an examination was made, it was discovered that he had died of heart disease, and so near to me that I could almost have touched him. Possibly I could not have been of any service to him if I had seen him when he first rang the bell, but the possibility that I might so affected me that from that day to this I have had my office as near my bed as I could get it."—Exchange.

A Man's Knee.

At the reception given to Dr. John Watson in Syracuse two Scotchmen, in highland costume, presented themselves. As the day was cold, many of the other guests expressed the fear that they would suffer discomfort from their bare legs. Hearing this, one of the Scotchmen laughed and said: "Do you know that a man's knee is like a dog's nose? It is bound to be cold anyway. That is a fact, and swathing the knee in flannels and trousers doesn't make the body a bit warmer."

FIRE THE COURTHOUSE.

The Second Time Incendiaries Try to Burn a Bellefonte Building.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Feb. 9.—An attempt has been made to burn the county courthouse here. The treasurer's office was broken into and the stairway and main entrance to the courtroom were saturated with coal oil, after which a match was applied. The flames were discovered and extinguished before they had gained much headway.

This is the second time an attempt has been made to destroy the building within five years.

FRANKED FOR THEM.

A SOLDIER'S STORY OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN AND BOYS IN BLUE.

An Envelope That Is More Valuable Than the Best Stamp in Any Collection—The Soldier Who Wouldn't Tell Lincoln a Lie.

"Let this go. A. LINCOLN." Unless it has been destroyed there is in a home in Fond du Lac county, Wis., a soldier letter in an envelope bearing the above words, signed by the great war president.

Frank King was a Lamartine boy, fresh from the farm, and a character our whole company took to kindly from the first.

When the army was camped in Virginia, near Washington, the winter of 1861-2, it was a common practice with the soldiers, when they got a pass, to visit the city to buy a package of envelopes and call at the capitol, send in for their senator or representative and get him to frank them.

One of our boys came back to camp in high feather. He had two packages of envelopes—one franked by Senator James R. Doolittle, now a Chicago lawyer, the other by the late Senator T. O. Howe, who succeeded Captain James as postmaster general in President Arthur's cabinet. For 20 years senators and members have been giving a good deal of their time to helping the soldiers with their pension claims. If they have done it as willingly and pleasantly as they used to frank envelopes for the boys, they must be pretty nearly angels.

"You fellows, there, are making a big blast over getting a couple of senators to frank your envelopes," said Frank King. "Just you wait till you see me come back from Washington with the president's name on some letter covers."

Within a few days Frank King and Harry Dunn, who for years after the war was a Chicago business man, went to the city. They called at the White House. It was easier to see the president than it is now. At certain hours of the day a soldier could reach the chief executive with fully as much ease as a senator can in these later years.

King was the ringleader. Approaching the guard, he said: "We want to see Mr. Lincoln. Please stand aside and let us pass."

"Who are you, and what is your business?"

"You tell old Abe we have charge of a regiment over on Arlington Heights and want to see him on an important matter. He'll let us in."

"Where are your shoulder straps?"

"We came over in our everyday clothes. Come, we are in a hurry. Let us go in and see Mr. Lincoln."

The parley had attracted the attention of the president. The door swung open and the good natured chief of the nation smiled upon the cheeky young fellows and made them step right in.

"What can I do for you, my men?"

"Mr. Lincoln, I want you to frank these envelopes," said King.

"Better get your congressman to do that."

"I'd much rather have you do it, Mr. Lincoln. The folks at home would like to see your name on my letters."

"I'll fix one of them. Take the rest to your congressman. Who is he?"

"I don't know."

"Where is your home?"

"Lamartine, Fond du Lac county, Wis."

"That is my friend Scott Sloan's district. You go to Mr. Sloan. He will fix the rest of them."

The president shook hands with the two private soldiers, asked them to be brave soldiers and wished them a safe return to their western homes.

Frank couldn't make his tentmates believe that the president had written: "Let this go. A. Lincoln." But the next day he wrote a letter to his father. The name of Lincoln was personally examined by all of the neighbors.

In January, 1864, our regiment was in Washington on the way home, having re-enlisted—"veteranized," as they called it. In company with two others I went to the White House. The president shook hands with us, thanked us for swearing in for three years more and expressed the hope that we would have a nice visit on our veteran furlough.

"Mr. President," said Jones—Ed Jones—"you franked a letter for one of the boys in our company, Frank King. I wish you would frank one for me."

"Odd as it may seem, you are the second soldier to make such a request. So both are of the same company? Very well."

On Jones' envelope he wrote "A. Lincoln, President," and as he handed it back he asked what had become of that other man who had asked him to pass a letter.

"He was killed at Gettysburg."

I shall never forget the look of sadness in the president's face when the answer was given, and it had not disappeared when we left the room.

"Jones, what did you tell him about King?" Did you see how it pained him?"

"What did he ask about him for? Do you suppose I was going to lie to a man I would die for?" was Jones' indignant reply.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Court's Decision.

"You remember Howforth, who married the woman who kept house for him so long?"

"Yep."

"Well, the court granted her a divorce last week."

"Alimony?"

"Not in cash. The decision was that she could keep the house."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE CRANE DANCE.

Where the Soubrettes Got Their Idea For a Specialty.

There is a dance called the crane dance, which is popular at the vaudeville houses. At Lincoln park there is a real crane which does a crane dance, and those who have seen its saltatorial feats say the bird does it much better than do the featherless, two legged animals.

No purely imitative dancing could fail to gain by being an exact copy of the performance of the long necked, spindle legged sand hill crane. Its steps are not only grotesque, but they are of a kind to make the gravest onlooker lose his dignity and laugh like a delighted boy at the circus. This Lincoln park bird at the outset of his dance is the personification of dignity. When in the days of his freedom he tripped it on his native sand hills for the sole benefit of his mate, he did so only in the springtime, but now, in his lowly captive state, he dances in and out of season if the keeper who feeds him will but wave his arms and take an awkward step or two to give him encouragement.

The crane begins its dance by shoving one long leg, with its claw attachment, straight out in front of his body. Then he lowers it and draws it back slowly until it is within an inch or two of the ground. Then there is a lightninglike double shuffle, and the other leg is pointed to the front. Then the dance begins in earnest. The wings are stretched and beat the air in perfect time to the movement of the feet, be they going fast or slow. There is the semblance of a clog; then the sinuous foot and body movement of the nautch girl, and in a moment the whirl of the dancing dervish, to be succeeded as a finale by a sort of wild "all hands round," in which every feather of the bird is alive, as it enters into the joy of the dance with an utter abandon. The act of stopping is like the "halt" of the German soldier—sudden, stiff and instant. Then the crane marches away to a corner with a still stately tread, but with an eye which appears to reveal embarrassment.—Chicago Times-Herald.

In Rome crowns of the leaves of various trees were given to the actors in the circus and theater in various sports.

Many a nervous woman sits up all the night and tries to read herself to sleep. Nine to one she doesn't accomplish her purpose. Nine to one, she gets more and more nervous. The slightest sound strikes terror to her heart. The dark corners of the room contain a thousand frights. She doesn't know what she is afraid of, but she is afraid, actually, honestly, nervously, abjectly afraid. Healthy women are not cowards. If a woman is nervous and sleepless and afraid of the rustle of her own dress, there is something the matter with her. The most delicate nerves in her body are set on edge by weakness or disease. Nine-tenths of the nervousness, irritability and bad temper in women is merely a symptom of ill health—ill health of the delicate and sensitive organism that makes her a woman. If she is overworked, or over-worried, the effect will show itself there first. There is no use taking harmful and deadly narcotics for nervousness and sleeplessness. It will leave the body in a worse condition than it was before. The way to effect a cure is to cure the cause. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do it. It has cured tens of thousands of cases of female weakness and nervousness. It is a most wonderful invigorating nerve or nerve food. It brings sound healthy sleep and restores the glow and bloom of health. It is the only medicine now before the public for woman's peculiar ailments, adapted to her delicate organization by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in these maladies. It cannot do harm in any condition of the system. Its sales exceed the combined sales of all other medicines for women.

The story of its discovery and its wonderful success is told in one part of Doctor Pierce's great thousand page book, "Common Sense Medical Advice," which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay for mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

At one time the motion of the train threw his body violently against the car, and one foot was across the rail. A wheel passed over the end of his shoe but did not touch the foot. Savage was almost giving up in despair when he regained his footing and the cars came to a standstill. The only injury received was to his feet, one of them being so badly swollen this morning that he could not put on his shoe.

MADE THEM SKIP.

Officer Morgan Keeps His Eyes on Questionable Characters.

Officer Morgan on his rounds found two Liverpool ladies of questionable character loafing and entertaining their sweethearts on Brimstone Corner the other evening, and commanded them to leave the locality, threatening them with arrest. Needless to say they made tracks for their resort on Coal street. The parties in question have been in the city since Sunday.

The Bowery had its usual amount of hilarity on tap Saturday night, and had so much in store that the rowdism was carried over until Sunday night, much to the annoyance of church goers. The police are aware of this conduct, but have no authority to go into the resorts and quiet them unless called by the proprietors, but the city could enact an ordinance that would drive them out of town.

TAKING TESTIMONY

In That Old Electric Light Company Case.

The case in the final winding up of the old electric light trouble was set for trial at city hall yesterday afternoon, and a number of witnesses examined. Suit had been brought by R. T. McDonald, receiver of the Ft. Wayne Electric company. Morris C. Tarr and about 35 others are defendants, and R. T. McDonald and the stockholders are the plaintiffs. The case was brought to enforce the statutory liability, and was referred to W. W. Hole, of Salem, as referee. Mr. Hole is hearing the case now, and will continue from day to day until it is decided. Billingsley, Taylor and Clark are representing the plaintiffs, and Ambler & Son and A. G. Smith are representing the defendants. The case was adjourned until today, and testimony is still being taken.

NOT A SERMON.

But Reverend Naylor Gave Some Good Advice.

Reverend Naylor did not preach a sermon last evening, but gave the church a good lecture containing a vast amount of common sense. Acting on the principle that allowed Paul to correct the church at Rome he told them some plain things. Some members, it seems, have gone from the beaten path, and it was necessary to remind them of it.

This evening he will again take up his sermons, and continue for the present week and the next. A large audience was in attendance, and much interest was manifested.

THE BOY CAME BACK.

He Was Lost and His Parents Were Anxious.

Little Charley Swarts, son of William Swarts, has again turned up alive. When last heard of Saturday afternoon he had gone to skate. When he did not return late in the evening his father became uneasy, and thought he had slipped through the ice or had been carried away by the break up in the river.

Monday evening he heard his son was in Hammondsville where he had gone without his knowledge. Charles is accustomed to leaving home suddenly.

Raided a House.

Officers Cohagen and Morgan raided a disorderly house on Hill street last evening. Four men and two women were captured. Several persons escaped. Each pleaded guilty and was fined $6. Two paid and were released.

The News of Wellsville.

Frank Sainer, who has been confined to his home for many days is still unable to be about.

Mrs. Robert Leith fell from the steps recently, and now nurses a badly strained arm as the result.

Harry Culp was quite seriously burned while at work in the rolling mill yesterday afternoon.

The small child of Mrs. John Hamilton struck a match too close to some drapery yesterday and fired it. The mother smelling the smoke investigated, and found the flames spreading rapidly. She quickly extinguished the blaze, and now the matches are placed one shelf higher in the cupboard.

It is being kept just as quiet as possible, but one of our young ladies and a young man of East Liverpool will soon

wed. By request, both names are withheld from the public for the present.

Mrs. Berry is again confined to her bed with a relapse of fever.

Jimmy Martin, a Liverpool boy, was caught peacefully sleeping on the curbstone by Officer Morgan Sunday evening, and, to keep him out of mischief, the officer locked him up. Martin paid the regulation for his hotel bill. Our officers are very kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Bunting have returned from Cleveland.

Mrs. A. Fisher is one of the grip's victims.

The case of Harry Quinn versus Wally Fogo came up in Justice Riley's court today. Fogo sued for a balance of $9.50 due on account.

General Riley, for some time suffering with nervous prostration and grip, is convalescent, and will be seen on the streets the first fair day.

THE DOCTOR'S STORY.

An Experience That Followed a Call at Night.

Four or five physicians were talking up town the other evening at the home of one, and the conversation later turned to shop. One of them had recently moved his office down town, and there was some discussion as to the advisability of separating house and office.

"Well," said the separatist, "I can't see any difference so long as I am at my office during office hours."

"Let me tell you a story," remarked the oldest man in the party. "Thirty years ago, when I began practice, I lived in Virginia, and for a year or two I slept in my office. Then I married, and my wife owned a nice house, and I went to it to live. It sat back from the street about 50 feet, and we decided that it would be much nicer if we had my office out on the street in the far corner of the lot. Only 50 feet away, you will observe, but still it was enough. In order to see such callers as came during the night I had a night bell and a speaking tube connecting the front door of the office with my bedroom. You see, I did not want a patient to escape under any circumstances.

"Well, everything went nicely enough for three years or so, when one night a ring came to my bell. It was then about 2 o'clock in the morning, and the ring was a hot one. I asked who it was, and the answer came from a friend of mine to the effect that he was a mighty sick man and wanted to see me at once. I told him to come around to the house and I would meet him at the door and take care of him. Then I got up, and, putting on my dressing gown and slippers, I proceeded to the front door. But there was no one there and no one in sight on the way between the gate and the house.

"That was odd, and I went back and called through the tube to know what was wrong. I received no answer, and, being quite unable to account for it, I took my lamp—it was a very dark and still night—and started to go out and investigate. Just as I was about to step off the porch I lowered my lamp to get a better light on the step, and there at the foot of the porch lay a body. I turned it over at once, and as the light fell on the face I saw it was my friend who had only a minute before spoken to me. He was quite dead. And when an examination was made, it was discovered that he had died of heart disease, and so near to me that I could almost have touched him. Possibly I could not have been of any service to him if I had seen him when he first rang the bell, but the possibility that I might so affected me that from that day to this I have had my office as near my bed as I could get it."—Exchange.

A Man's Knee.

At the reception given to Dr. John Watson in Syracuse two Scotchmen, in highland costume, presented themselves. As the day was cold, many of the other guests expressed the fear that they would suffer discomfort from their bare legs. Hearing this, one of the Scotchmen laughed and said: "Do you know that a man's knee is like a dog's nose? It is bound to be cold anyway. That is a fact, and swathing the knee in flannels and trousers doesn't make the body a bit warmer."

FIRE THE COURTHOUSE.

The Second Time Incendiaries Try to Burn a Bellefonte Building.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Feb. 9.—An attempt has been made to burn the county courthouse here. The treasurer's office was broken into and the stairway and main entrance to the courtroom were saturated with coal oil, after which a match was applied. The flames were discovered and extinguished before they had gained much headway.

This is the second time an attempt has been made to destroy the building within five years.

MAHER ROBBERED OF OVER $1,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—Peter Maher, the pugilist, has reported at police headquarters that he had been robbed of jewelry and cash to the amount of $1,000. The thief gained access to Peter's room while the latter slept and carried off Maher's coat, trousers and vest.

FRANKED FOR THEM.

A SOLDIER'S STORY OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN AND BOYS IN BLUE.

An Envelope That Is More Valuable Than the Best Stamp in Any Collection—The Soldier Who Wouldn't Tell Lincoln a Lie.

"Let this go. A. LINCOLN."

Unless it has been destroyed there is a home in Fond du Lac county, Wis., a soldier letter in an envelope bearing the above words, signed by the great war president.

Frank King was a Lamartine boy, fresh from the farm, and a character our whole company took to kindly from the first.

When the army was camped in Virginia, near Washington, the winter of 1861-2, it was a common practice with the soldiers, when they got a pass, to visit the city to buy a package of envelopes and call at the capitol, send in for their senator or representative and get him to frank them.

One of our boys came back to camp in high feather. He had two packages of envelopes—one franked by Senator James R. Doolittle, now a Chicago lawyer, the other by the late Senator T. O. Howe, who succeeded Captain James as postmaster general in President Arthur's cabinet. For 20 years senators and members have been giving a good deal of their time to helping the soldiers with their pension claims. If they have done it as willingly and pleasantly as they used to frank envelopes for the boys, they must be pretty nearly angels.

"You fellows, there, are making a big blast over getting a couple of senators to frank your envelopes," said Frank King. "Just you wait till you see me come back from Washington with the president's name on some letter covers."

Within a few days Frank King and Harry Dunn, who for years after the war was a Chicago business man, went to the city. They called at the White House. It was easier to see the president then than it is now. At certain hours of the day a soldier could reach the chief executive with fully as much ease as a senator can in these later years.

King was the ringleader. Approaching the guard, he said: "We want to see Mr. Lincoln. Please stand aside and let us pass."

"Who are you, and what is your business?"

"You tell old Abe we have charge of a regiment over on Arlington Heights and want to see him on an important matter. He'll let us in."

"Where are your shoulder straps?"

"We came over in our everyday clothes. Come, we are in a hurry. Let us go in and see Mr. Lincoln."

The parley had attracted the attention of the president. The door swung open and the good natured chief of the nation smiled upon the cheeky young fellows and bade them step right in.

"What can I do for you, my men?"

"Mr. Lincoln, I want you to frank these envelopes," said King.

"Better get your congressman to do that."

"I'd much rather have you do it, Mr. Lincoln. The folks at home would like to see your name on my letters."

"I'll fix one of them. Take the rest to your congressman. Who is he?"

"I don't know."

"Where is your home?"

"Lamartine, Fond du Lac county, Wis."

"That is my friend Scott Sloan's district. You go to Mr. Sloan. He will fix the rest of them."

The president shook hands with the two privates, asked them to be brave soldiers and wished them a safe return to their western homes.

Frank couldn't make his tentmates believe that the president had written: "Let this go. A. Lincoln." But the next day he wrote a letter to his father. The name of Lincoln was personally examined by all of the neighbors.

In January, 1864, our regiment was in Washington on the way home, having re-enlisted—"veteranized," as they called it. In company with two others I went to the White House. The president shook hands with us, thanked us for swearing in for three years more and expressed the hope that we would have a nice visit on our veteran furlough.

"Mr. President," said Jones—Ed Jones—"you franked a letter for one of the boys in our company, Frank King. I wish you would frank one for me."

"Odd as it may seem, you are the second soldier to make such a request. So both are of the same company? Very well."

On Jones' envelope he wrote "A. Lincoln, President," and as he handed it back he asked what had become of that other man who had asked him to pass a letter.

"He was killed at Gettysburg."

I shall never forget the look of sadness in the president's face when the answer was given, and it had not disappeared when we left the room.

"Jones, what did you tell him about King for? Did you see how it pained him?"

"What did he ask about him for? Do you suppose I was going to lie to a man I would die for?" was Jones' indignant reply.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Court's Decision.

"You remember Howforth, who married the woman who kept house for him so long?"

"Yep."

"Well, the court granted her a divorce last week."

"Alimony?"

"Not in cash. The decision was that she could keep the house."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE CRANE DANCE.

Where the Soubrettes Got Their Idea For a Specialty.

There is a dance called the crane dance, which is popular at the vaudeville houses. At Lincoln park there is a real crane which does a crane dance, and those who have seen its saltatorial feats say the bird does it much better than do the featherless, two legged animals.

No purely imitative dancing could fail to gain by being an exact copy of the performance of the long necked, spindle legged sand hill crane. Its steps are not only grotesque, but they are of a kind to make the gravest onlooker lose his dignity and laugh like a delighted bird at the circus. This Lincoln park bird at the outset of his dance is the personification of dignity. When in the days of his freedom he tripped it on his native sand hills for the sole benefit of his mate, he did so only in the springtime, but now, in his lowly captivity, he dances in and out of season if the keeper who feeds him will but wave his arms and take an awkward step or two to give him encouragement.

The crane begins its dance by shoving one long leg, with its claw attachment, straight out in front of his body. Then he lowers it and draws it back slowly until it is within an inch or two of the ground. Then there is a lightninglike double shuffle, and the other leg is pointed to the front. Then the dance begins in earnest. The wings are stretched and beat the air in perfect time to the movement of the feet, be they going fast or slow. There is the semblance of a clog; then the sinuous foot and body movement of the nautch girl, and in a moment the whirl of the dancing dervish, to be succeeded as a finale by a sort of wild "all hands round," in which every feather of the bird is alive, as it enters into the joy of the dance with an utter abandon. The act of stopping is like the "halt" of the German soldier—sudden, stiff and instant. Then the crane marches away to a corner with a still stately tread, but with an eye which appears to reveal embarrassment.—Chicago Times-Herald.

In Rome crowns of the leaves of various trees were given to the actors in the circus and theater in various sports.

Many a nervous woman sits up all the night and tries to read herself asleep. Nine to one she doesn't accomplish her purpose. Nine to one, she gets more and more nervous. The slightest sound strikes terror to her heart. The dark corners of the room contain a thousand frights. She doesn't know what she is afraid of, but she is afraid, actually, honestly
